estimated at forty-three million for twenty millions some time ago.

In addition, the United States has pressed for a settlement of a thirty million dollar lend-lease account—on which generous terms would be extended—and indemnity for two U. S. transport planes shot down near Bled in the fall of 1946.

In view of the fact that the gold would serve to bolster the Yugoslav currency, the United States is inclined to return a substantial

It was pointed out that a more stable currency would permit Yudiscourage trade between Yu-

"Made in Heaven" Will Be Playhouse Attraction

NEW HOPE, July 1—Three popular players, Philip Bournett, Frances Reid and Sara Seegar, will be starred in the ultra-modern comedy, "Made in Heaven," by Hagar Wilde, which will be the attraction at the Bucks County Playhouse, here, the week beginning Monday, July 5th.

"Made in Heaven" is a gay story of Zachary Meredith, a successful advertising man, and his wife, who, after ten years, face a break in their marriage. It takes three acts and a succession of intriguing and hilarious situations for them to realize that the root of their trouble lies in their association with a too-sophisticated cocktail set, and that they really are still enough in love to find continued happiness in their life together. They learn their lesson after the husband, played by Philip Bournett, has sought surcease from loneliness in liquor and the charms of a glamorous lady bartly, while his wife, acted by Sara Seegar, looks for comfort to a fascinating foreigner. The example set by these two nearly disrupts the romance of the wife's idealistic young sister, a part played by Frances Reid.

GLEANEY BY SCRIBES

When Company D, 11th Regimental Combat Team held its first peace-time draft law drill at Doylestown on Monday evening, 97 men appeared in uniforms.

1st Sgt. Frank W. Walton, who said each Guardsman appeared in HBT—herring-bone twill—explained the "seasoned soldiers" were upstairs and studying machine gun nomenclature.

In the large drill shed, the 40 new enlisted men—recruits who got under the wire just before President Truman signed the draft bill last Friday—were drilled and, according to former World War I Captain Daniel D. Atkinson, made a good showing.

"Company D certainly has some fine looking men and it is one of the finest looking National Guard companies I have ever seen," said the former Atkinson officer.

Captain Aaron C. Griffiths, Jr., and First Lieut. Robert S. Warnick, who are in charge of the company, are pleased with the morale of the men. There will be several discharges handed to Guardsmen because they have moved out of the state or are working out of the state and cannot report for drills.

"Our quota was 85 and we now have 97 men so you can see we are busy," said Walton, who added they could have had 150 more recruits easily.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Yugoslavia continued her defiance of the Communist Information Bureau by calling again yesterday for a Balkan federation with Albania and Bulgaria, a proposal previously squashed by Moscow. The suggestion was contained in an eight-point program for the Yugoslav Communist party Congress on July 21. Marshal Tito received an ovation on his return to Belgrade from seclusion on an Adriatic island.

While the Bulgarian Government was silent on a Balkan federation, it said relations with Yugoslavia munists, however, approved the

SUP'T CONSIDERS THE SCHOOL CONDITIONS

Dr. O. S. Heckman Submits
Annual Report To Langhorne-Middletown Bd.

THE VARIOUS PHASES

Dr. Oliver S. Heckman, superintendent of Langhorne-Middletown public schools, has submitted his annual report to the board of school directors. The report follows in part:

The school year 1947-48 although disrupted to some extent by the resignation, death and illness of a number of teachers, was nevertheless a successful one. It seems appropriate that reference should be made to the reorganization of the schools in Langhorne and Langhorne Manor, the establishment of a five district joint board to operate the secondary school and the adoption of plans to regrade the Penn-dale school to conform more nearly with the most acceptable standards of education since these changes have a direct bearing on educational program. The recently adopted salary schedule, which places this district in front rank, will undoubtedly result in strengthening our position to attract and hold good teachers.

The advancement of all the schools in music education, the greater interest in industrial education, the cultural and practical department to bring employment opportunities in offices in the community to the attention of graduates of the school and others about to be graduated, and the concerted effort by teachers in mathematics, history and government, English and science to provide pupils with the basic learnings, are tangible evidence of a school system which is alert to its duties and responsibilities. In athletic competition the boys won the Lower Bucks county championship in football and lost the same honor in baseball, only by

HOURS OF DARKNESS ARE MOST DANGEROUS

Danger Then Lurks for Both Motorist and Pedestrian Alike

VISIBILITY IS VITAL

By Julien H. Harvey
Mgr., National Conservation Bureau

This is the seventh of a series of ten articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialists and published by this newspaper in the interest of greater traffic safety.

The hours of darkness are the most dangerous for both motorists and pedestrians. Despite the fact that more than half of the annual number of hours are daylight, and that traffic is lightest between midnight and dawn, the night-time mileage death rate continues to exceed the day-time rate, year after year.

The reasons for this are well known to safety specialists. If drivers will learn them, too, and adapt their driving habits to combat the special hazards created by darkness much human tragedy and economic waste can be prevented.

Visibility is a vital element in safe driving at all times. At night it must be provided by proper street lighting and proper driving lights.
In times past, the measurement of good street lighting was thought to be the amount of candle power at the light source and the number of lights on a given roadway. Now however, engineering specialists have established as fact that the chief concern should be the road surface brightness and its effect on the visibility of an object, and modern street lighting is thus being designed in accordance with that knowledge.

Obviously, adequate street and highway lighting is basic and essential to the safe operation of our automobiles on their surfaces. However, for visibility on hundreds of thousands of miles of road, where traffic density does not justify special types of highway lighting, we must depend on headlights. Indeed, we must rely on efficient headlights at all times. When properly used, modern head lamps of the
"sealed beams" type provide safe seeing conditions for night driving.
In addition, a wise motorist plans his vehicle operation in an entirely different way than when he drives during the day.

2 HUSBANDS ARE SENT TO COUNTY PRISON

Bristolian In Arrearages On Support Order; Held
In Court Contempt

WEISS FAMILY CASE

DOYLESTOWN, July 1—Two husbands were sent to Bucks county prison this week. One a Bristol father of four children, who allegedly drinks too much, and the other a Philadelphian who irked the court when his wife informed them that he never intended to support his children.

Roy Houser, McKinley street, who is in arrearages $210 on a support order, was committed to prison for contempt of court. His wife, Julia, who testified, said her husband could earn good money if he would stop drinking. There are four children.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller said, "The court has made an investigation of your case and we will give you a little time to think things over and change your attitude." The defendant made no payments, since February 11.

James J. Weiss, of Philadelphia, who wrote his wife and told her to
"get another man to support her and the children," was remanded to prison by Judge Calvin S. Boyer.
The defendant, who is more than $800 in the arrearages, has been in prison since Dec. 12, 1947. "Your honor, my husband never expects to support his children when he is released," Mrs. Weiss said.
"He couldn't support his children, but he had enough money to try to open a restaurant in Yardley. How can that be?" she demanded.

CONSIDERS PERMANENT INJUNCTION

WASHINGTON, July 1—(INS)—
Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today considers the issuance of a permanent injunction to prevent a strike of the government-seized railroads. One hundred and fifty thousand engineers, firemen and switchmen have been working since May 10 under a temporary restraint. "I order and later a preliminary injunction while efforts were made to settle their wage dispute. The preliminary injunction expires when the court rules on the issuance of a permanent anti-strike order. If Judge Goldsborough should dismiss the government's injunction suit, an immediate walkout probably would occur on the nation's vast rail network.

DELICATE PROCESS OF GLASS-MAKING SHOWN

Film "Blowpipes" and Others Viewed By Lincoln
Highway Kiwanians

HAVE TWO VISITORS

PENNDDEL, July 1—John V. Bonner, a representative of a glass manufacturing firm, showed a variety of interesting films to members of the Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis Club, at its dinner-meeting held on Tuesday evening, at the Royal Gardens, Bensalem township.

The principal film, entitled "Blow-pipes," traced the art of glass-making from the early days of civilization. In the year 1400 B.C., the Egyptians tried their hand at glass making; later this work was carried on by the Moors. The art of glass making spread rapidly al-over the world and the different characteristics of each country was reflected. In the year 1608, the first glass was manufactured in the United States at Jamestown, Va.

The film showed the intricate and very delicate process of glass making. It takes years of apprenticeship before one acquires the highly skillful art of glass making. The film also exhibited the different color combinations and patterns imprinted on glassware. It is put on in such a manner so as to withstand many washings.

A sports film entitled, "Better Play Golf," was also shown. "Sam"
Snead, "Patty" Berg and Lloyd Manngum gave lessons on difficult shots and the use of proper clubs.
A football film, showing the highlights of prominent football games of the 1947 season, was also exhibited.

Visiting Kiwanis included C. Wilbert Van Buskirk and his son, Charles Buskirk, of the Trenton,
N. J. club.

Paul Sauerbrey, chairman of the program committee, announced that on July 6th, William A. Thomas, former supervising principal of the Langhorne-Middletown schools, will give a talk on the timely subject of "Communism."

PHILA. DENTIST IS DROWNED IN FALL FROM PIER WALK

Dr. Ivanhoe C. Blouin Was

FRIENDS TRY TO AID

Slips from Walk and Falls Into Seven Feet of Water

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, July 1—A well known Frankford dentist was drowned last evening in the Delaware river when he slipped from a walk tied to a pier of the Pennsylvania Yacht Club here. At the time of the accident he was attempting to go aboard a pleasure craft tied up there.

The victim is: Dr. Ivanhoe C.
Blouin, 59, of 8521 Frankford venue, Philadelphia.

According to state police of Langhorne barracks, Dr. Blouin slipped from the walk and fell into about seven feet of water, and did not return to the surface. Friends at the scene of the accident tried in vain to locate the body but were unable to do so until one hour later.

Members of the Bucks County Marine Unit Association were summoned, and a resuscitator was used in an effort to revive Dr. Blouin.

Dr. Blouin had gone to the pier with other members of the club to board his cruiser, the "Essbee." With him were Commodore Frank Frease and Mrs. Margaret Frease.
As they were about to board the craft, both Mrs. Frease and Blouin lost their balance and fell into the water. Mrs. Frease, an excellent swimmer, swam to safety, but Blouin never returned to the surface.

GLEAINED BY SCRIBES

When Company D, 11th Regimental Combat Team held its first
peace-time draft law drill at Doylestown on Monday evening, 97
men appeared in uniforms.

1st Sgt. Frank W. Walton, who
said each Guardsman appeared in HBT—herring-bone twill—explained
the "seasoned soldiers" were upstairs and studying machine gun nomenclature.

In the large drill shed, the 40 new
enlisted men—recruits who got
under the wire just before President Truman signed the draft bill
last Friday—were drilled and, according to former World War I
good showing.

fine looking men and it is one of the finest looking National Guard
companies I have ever seen," said
the former Atkinson officer.

Captain Aaron C. Griffiths, Jr.,
and First Lieut. Robert S. Warnick,
who are in charge of the company,
are pleased with the morale of the
men. There will be several discharges handed to Guardsmen because they have moved out of the
and cannot report for drills.

busy," said Walton, who added they
easily.

WHERE JAP QUAKE BROUGHT DEATH TO THOUSANDS

THIS AIR VIEW SHOWS A SECTION OF FUKUI, large Japanese seaport city on the island of Honshu, where thousands were killed, injured and left homeless by earthquakes, tidal waves and fire. Hardest hit of any city in the disaster zone, only a few modern buildings are left standing. Immense "match box" dwellings were razed. Latest figures put the death toll at over 3,000. (U. S. Signal Corps Radiophoto from International)

Annual Report To Lang-
horne-Middletown Bd.

Dr. Oliver S. Heckman, superintendent of Langhorne-Middletown
public schools, has submitted his
part:

less a successful one. It seems ap-
made to the reorganization of the
schools in Langhorne and Lang-
horne Manor, the establishment of
the secondary school and the adoption of plans to regrade the Penndell school to conform more nearly
with the most acceptable standards
of education since these changes
program. The recently adopted salary schedule, which places this district in front rank, will undoubtedly
to attract and hold good teachers.

cation, the cultural and practical
department to bring employment opportunities in offices in the community to the attention of gradu-
to be graduated, and the concerted
effort by teachers in mathematics,
history and government, English
evidence of a school system which
is alert to its duties and responsibilities. In athletic competition the
boys won the Lower Bucks county
the same honor in baseball, only by

Danger Then Lurks for Both Motorist and Pedestrian Alike

By Julien H. Harvey
MKT., National Conservation Bureau

of ten articles on street and
highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident
prevention specialists and published by this newspaper in the interest of greater traffic safety.

The hours of darkness are the most dangerous for both motorists
mileage death rate continues to
exceed the day-time rate, year after year.

The reasons for this are well known to safety specialists. If
drivers will learn them, too, and
adapt their driving habits to combat the special hazards created by
darkness much human tragedy
and economic waste can be prevented.

Visibility is a vital element in
safe driving at all times. At night
lighting and proper driving lights.
the light source and the number of
lights on a given roadway. Now
have established as fact that our chief concern should be the road
on the visibility of an object, and
modern street lighting is thus being designed in accordance with
that knowledge.

Obviously, adequate street and
highway lighting is basic and essential to the safe operation of our automobiles on their surfaces. However, for visibility on hundreds of
traffic density does not justify
special types of highway lighting, we must depend on headlamps. Indeed, we must rely on efficient
headlights at all times. When properly used, modern head lamps of the
"sealed beams" type provide safe
seeing conditions for night driving.
his vehicle operation in an entirely different way than when he drives
during the day.

bands were sent to Bucks county prison this week. One a Bristol
father of four children, who al-
other a Philadelphian who irked
support his children.

Roy Houser, McKinley street,
who is in arrearages $219 on a support order, was committed to prison for contempt of court. His wife, Julia, who testified, said her husband could earn good money if he would stop drinking. There are four children.

ler said, "The court has made an investigation of your case and we will give you a little time to think things over and change your
attitude." The defendant made no payments, since February 11.

James J. Weiss, of Philadelphia,
who wrote his wife and told her to
and the children," was remanded to
prison by Judge Calvin S. Boyer.
The defendant, who is more than $800 in the arrearages, has been
honor, my husband never expects
to support his children when he
is released," Mrs. Weiss said.

"He couldn't support his children, but he had enough money to try to open a restaurant in Yarde-ley. How can that be?" she demanded.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today considers the issuance
of a permanent injunction to prevent a strike of the government-owned railroads. One hundred and fifty thousand engineers, firemen
and switchmen have been working since May to under a temporary restraining order and later a preliminary injunction while efforts
were made to settle their wage dis-
issuance of a permanent anti-strike
junction suit, an immediate walk-
out probably would occur on the nation's vast rail network.

Film "Blowpipes" and Others Viewed By Lincoln

PENNDIEL, July 1—John V. Bonner, a representative of a glass manufacturing firm, showed a variety of
interesting films to members of
the Bucks County Lincoln Highway
Kiwanis Club, at its dinner-meeting
held on Tuesday evening, at the Royal Gardens, Bensalem township.

The principal film, entitled "Blow-
making from the early days of civilization. In the year 1400 B.C., the Egyptians tried their hand at glass
making; later this work was car-
glass making spread rapidly all over the world and the different
reflected. In the year 1608, the
first glass was manufactured in the United States at Jamestown, Va.

The film showed the intricate and
very delicate process of glass
making. It takes years of apprenticeship before one acquires
the highly skillful art of glass
making. The film also exhibited
the different color combinations
and patterns imprinted on glassware. It is put on in such a manner so as to withstand many washings.

A sports film entitled, "Better Play Golf," was also shown. "Sam"
Snead, "Patty" Berg and Lloyd Manheim gave lessons on difficult shots and the use of proper clubs.
A football film, showing the highlights of prominent football games
of the 1947 season, was also exhibited.

Visiting Kiwanis included C. Wilbert Van Buskirk and his son, Charles Buskirk, of the Trenton,
N. J. club.

Paul Sauerby, chairman of the program committee, announced that
on July 6th, William A. Thomas, former supervising principal of the Langhorne-Middletown schools, will
of "Communism."

Croydonite Says Thug Hit Him With Hammer

Philadelphia—Police searched in vain today along a stretch of railroad tracks in the Port Richmond section for a hammer-wielding thug who fled after trying to rob a cab driver. The elusive thug slipped through their cordon, however, after an hour of hide-and-seek. The robbery was reported by Alfred Wilkowski, 29, of Croydon, who said he had picked up the thug for a fare. When the man commanded him to stop because "this is a stickup," Wilkowski swerved abruptly and leaped from the car. He grappled with the thug and was struck several times with a hammer, before the man fled.

MOKE TROUBLE

Men wrestling with the soil certainly are compelled to struggle up hill. Something always bobs up to rob them of their ease. It is almost impossible to succeed with a vegetable garden without spraying, and a townsman is compelled to spray his lawn against an assortment of hazards, including new and tenacious weeds.

Airplanes flit across the skies spewing out concoctions against crop pests. Some sections of the country are losing their orchards because pests succeeded in accommodating themselves to all the poisons that could be devised.

Now Oklahoma reports a pretty new weed with the not-so-pretty scientific name of glottidium vesicarium. Farmers call it bladderpod, coffeebean and castlebean. It is an abomination that originated in the West Indies. It leaped the ocean to Florida and now is spreading westward.

This weed, growing undisturbed in the pastures, is killing cattle. And rise in cow mortality was at first unexplained. Now scientists have traced it to this lethal weed, a legume two to 12 feet tall, with fern-like leaves and pointed bean pods two inches long containing two brown or tan beans the size of limas. Periodic mowing of a pasture will eradicate it.

Little is heard today of the once troublesome loco weed. But no trouble ever vanishes entirely for the farmer. It always returns in a new form or in many forms.

A SHADOW LIFTED

If there is a gasoline or oil shortage this summer or next winter, it won't be because the wells have stopped spouting or the refineries have quit on the job. What can bring it about is a demand utterly beyond all present expectations.

This more optimistic outlook that the industry is now taking toward coming events is the result of continuous record-breaking production. The average output of crude oil is 5,475,000 barrels a day. A year ago it was 5,100,000 barrels. In January, when it was thought the top had been reached, it was 5,300,000 barrels. Before the war there never was a time until late 1941 that production reached 4,000,000 barrels daily.

The refineries, too, are doing their share to keep automobile wheels turning and to provide the means for heat next winter. According to the Oil and Gas Journal, they have stepped up their activity until it is today 15 per cent greater than a year ago. In consequence the nation has now what it seldom has had in summer months—an actual increase in the quantity of oil and gasoline in storage.

The motoring public and American homeowners will welcome the brighter prospects thus in store for them. But they should not regard this good news as an invitation to waste either product.

Sheep may suffer from insomnia, as an expert declares, but it is doubtful if they count people.

MORE TROUBLE

Men wrestling with the soil certainly are compelled to struggle up hill. Something always bobs up to rob them of their ease.
It is almost impossible to succeed with a vegetable garden without spraying, and a townsman is compelled to spray his lawn against an assortment of hazards, including new and tenacious weeds.
Airplanes flit across the skies spewing out concoctions against crop pests. Some sections of the country are losing their orchards because pests succeeded in accommodating themselves to all the poisons that could be devised.

Now Oklahoma reports a pretly new weed with the not-so-pretty scientific name of glottidium vesicarium. Farmers call it bladderpod, coffeebean and cast-bean. It is an abomination that originated in the West Indies. It leaped the ocean to Florida and now is spreading westward.

This weed, growing undisturbed in the pastures, is killing cattle. And rise in cow mortality was at first unexplained. Now scientists have traced it to this lethal weed, a legume two to 12 feet tall, with fern-like leaves and pointed bean pods two inches long containing two brown or tan beans the size of limas. Periodic mowing of a pasture will eradicate it.

Little is heard today of the once troublesome loco weed. But no trouble ever vanishes entirely for the farmer. It always returns in a new form or in many forms.

If there is a gasoline or oil shortage this summer or next winter, it won't be because the wells have stopped spouting or the refineries have quit on the job.
What can bring it about is a demand utterly beyond all present expectations.

This more optimistic outlook that the industry is now taking toward coming events is the result of continuous record-breaking production. The average output of crude oil is 5,475,000 barrels a day. A year ago it was 5,100,000 barrels. In January, when it was thought the top had been reached, it was 5,300,000 barrels. Before the war there never was a time until late 1941 that production reached 4,000,000 barrels daily.

The refineries, too, are doing their share to keep automobile wheels turning and to provide the means for heat next winter. According to the Oil and Gas Journal, they have stepped up their activity until it is today 15 percent greater than a year ago. In consequence the nation has now what it seldom has had in summer months—an actual increase in the quantity of oil and gasoline in storage.

The motoring public and American homeowners will welcome the brighter prospects thus in store for them. But they should not regard this good news as an invitation to waste either product.

Sheep may suffer from insomnia, as an expert declares, but it is doubtful if they count people.

SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

PICNIC FOODS in homes! Nice for "shower" gifts, huge and delicious assortment are now ready in the Snellen-burg Chestnut St.
Food Shop. All your favorite cheeses, domestic and imported, are waiting at the Cheese Counter, and of smoked and cooked sandwich meats there is an abundance. Besides, there are the delectable canned and glassed cheeses and meats, relishes, etc., not to speak of biscuits, cookies, etc. Have a luscious Fourth of July outing!
(1st fl.)

BOYS like the "Robert Bruce" shape-retaining shirts. Mothers like them for their fast colors. Strappings make these knitted sleeves and crew necks, of course.
Iron "Basques" or not, as you like. With just shaking, smoothing and folding they're presentable. You'll find them priced at $1.95 each, in sizes 8 to 18, in the Snellenburg Boys' Center. (3rd fl.)

BIKE TIME is summer time. The Snellen-burg Toy Dept. has an amazing array of makes and prices, starting with the smallest velocipedes for two to three year olds, at $8.75, to the good looking two-wheelers for the older girls and boys, ranging in price up to $42.98. Every age is covered, and each size seems to come conveniently at several prices to fit our varying budgets. There is no gift that will give the youngsters more fun and entertainment, nor more healthful exercise than a velocipede or two-wheeler. Look 'em over! (4th fl.)

MIRACLES of beauty and durability are the season's "Koroseal" shower and matching window curtains. The Snellenburg Koroseal Curtain (in the House Furnishings Dept.) has these non-stick, non-crack curtains effectively hung, so that you can picture how they will look in your own homes. The lovely translucent things range through the rainbow from white to black itself, and the designs range from colorful plains and florals to smart geometrics and sophisticated figures. The curtains I particularly liked had stars! With "Koroseals," bathrooms can easily become the glamor rooms of your shower gifts, too. (2nd fl.)

EASY INFORMALITY

Here's a home with an easy, informal air that stamps it unmistakably as designed for life in the open country. All on one floor, the dwelling

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

Here's a one-floor house that strikes a note of easy informality, making it particularly well suited for country living.

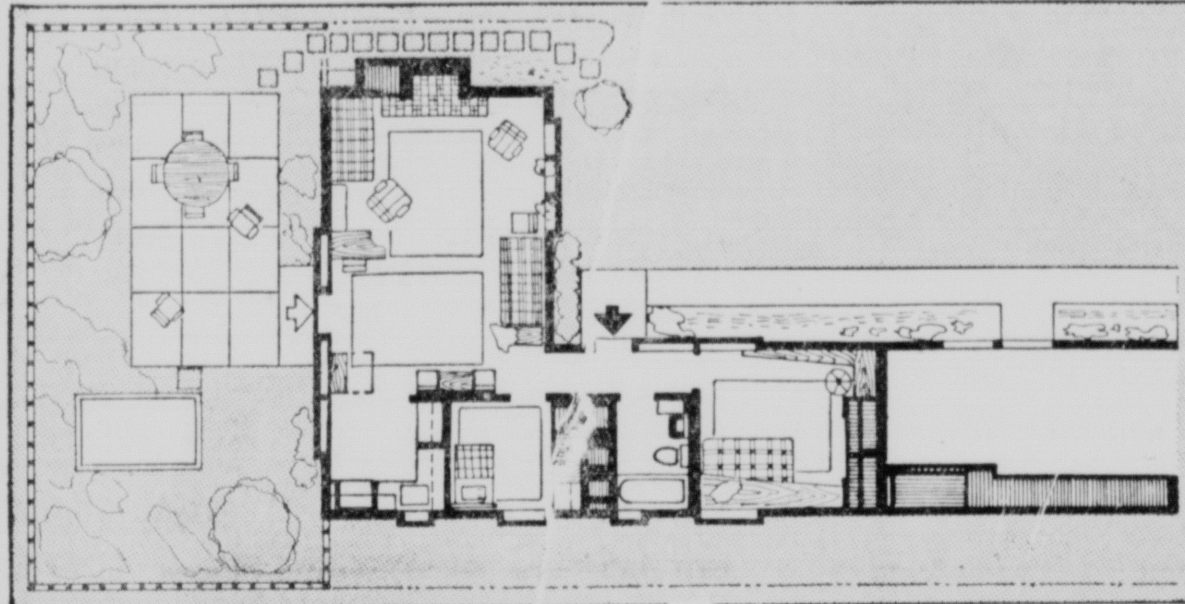

With a terrace opening out of the living room at one end, and a car port located at the other end, everything needed to make this out-of-town home compactly self-contained is right at hand.

Designed for a small family, the house has just two bedrooms, but is arranged with a terrace at one end, opening out of the living room, and a port for convenient housing of the family car at the other end.

there is ample opportunity for increasing the number if desired.

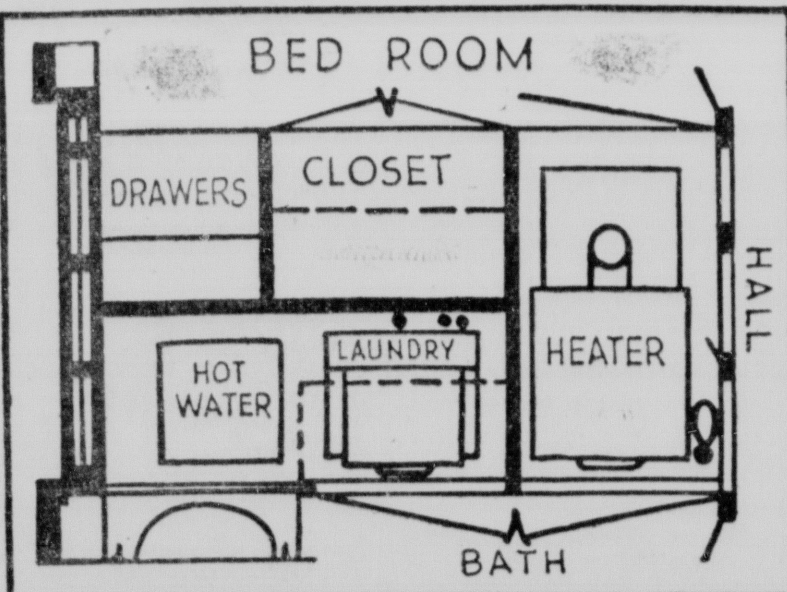

Provision for dining is made in the living room area, with the kitchen conveniently opening into it. The bathroom is in the hallway between the two bedrooms, beside a service-utility unit which is an unusual and specially desirable feature of the house. Heater, laundry equipment, hot water heater and shelves for household linens are all contained in this unit, with a door opening into the bathroom.

Inside, one wing of the L-shaped house contains the living room and the dining area, with the two bedrooms side by side in the other wing. The compact kitchen occupies the corner between the two wings.

A Utility Room, Situated between bathroom and one of the bedrooms, conveniently houses heater, laundry equipment and hot water unit.

This diagram shows the arrangement of the utility room, which, besides the various mechanical units, provides shelves, drawers, closet.

the fact that the team was disqualified. The girls softball team won the Lower Bucks county championship and stood high among the qualifying teams in hockey.

The Parent-Teacher Association at the Hulmeville school, the room mothers club at the Farkland school and the Friends school, and the Parent-Teacher Association of Langhorne, contributed not only generously of their moral support to the schools, but gave educational aids and materials valued at nearly $1,000.

The past year was unusual with respect to the stability and inservice continuity of the faculty. One teacher died in service, another because of illness was absent from school continuously from December 1st to the end of the term; a member of the high school faculty was granted a leave effective January 1st; the boys health instructor resigned February 1st, and the high school mathematics teacher resigned March 1st to take a position in the Philadelphia school system. Substitute teachers were drawn into service for four of the five positions made vacant and in the other, an inexperienced teacher was employed to complete the task.

In the high school 26% of the faculty have had three years or more experience in the system, while the remaining 80% have had only one or two years. In the elementary schools 55% of the staff have had two years or more experience in the system. In other words, the faculty is mostly comprised of people who are new to the community and to the school system.

This cannot help but have a telling effect upon the kind of an educational program we all desire to have for the children who are entrusted to our care. It is very probable that the salary schedule recently adopted by the board of school directors, additional building space, smaller classes, and other extenuating factors, will tend to correct this condition.

A plan for the inservice training of teachers was carried to fruition during the year. In the elementary schools, under the direction of Miss Baxter, all of the teachers worked on problems relating to the improvement of education in which they had a manifest interest. On the secondary school level the faculty worked on course of study outlines for their respective fields of instruction.

Several teachers in both the elementary and secondary schools furthered their education during the year by taking work at either Temple University or the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. In some instances this advanced work was done in fields remotely related to

that in which the teacher was engaged. In others it had a very close relationship. Instructors in home economics, social studies and science participated in conferences relating to their respective fields of instruction.

It is gratifying to report that among this year's graduates, all except one planning to attend college, has been accepted for admission to college in September, 1948. In a few instances it was necessary to make a special appeal to institutions of higher learning in order to have pupils admitted whose grades were not sufficiently high to meet the admission standards of the institutions.

In the elementary schools tests revealed that there are enough pupils to justify the services of two teachers of special education. This means that there are between 10 and 50 pupils in the elementary schools whose intelligence potentialities is of such a level that they would profit more by the kind of instruction that would be given in special classes, than by that which is ordinarily included in the regular classes. In the past children with low mental ability were carried along in regular classes making little progress, experiencing failure in all of their school work, becoming psychological problems and before reaching the 10th grade, dropped out of school. These are the people who because of their mental makeup, often become the major problems in society. We are doing the best we can to help children whose mental level is low, to adjust themselves to the school. We are not doing as much as needs to be done, either to help them or to save our more intelligent children from the losses which are incurred by having a very heterogeneous mental group together.

The loss of pupils through the granting of work certificates is very heavy in the ninth and tenth grades. There are incidental losses by doctors' certificates to pupils in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Annually the school gives general employment papers to approximately 25 pupils.

During the past year the pupil-teacher ratio in the elementary school was 33.8 pupils per teacher, and in the high school 28.2 pupils per teacher. Needless to say this is a higher pupil-teacher ratio than that provided for in the school laws of the Commonwealth or recommended by the best educators. It is hoped that this condition will be corrected next year with more adequate building space and additional staff members.

We anticipate an enrollment of 765 pupils in grades one to six, next year. To handle this group we are planning to have a corps of 23 teachers. This will give us a pupil-teacher ratio of 33.4 pupils per teacher. In the high school we anticipate an enrollment of 525 pupils and a teaching corps of 20. This will give us a pupil-teacher ratio of 26 to one. However, with inevitable losses during the school

With classes numbering approximately 30 each in the elementary schools, and from 25 to 30 each in the high school, we ought to be able to give more individual attention to those who are in special need of it. During the past year 62% of our classes in the high school had 30 or more pupils. Nine of them had more than 50 pupils each. Unfortunately the large classes were in what are usually called the basic studies: namely English, history, mathematics, science and geography.

In the elementary school, several teachers had from 35 to 45 pupils each. No teacher, regardless of how competent, can teach from 35 to 45 pupils whose mental abilities and maturity vary widely, as effectively as she could teach 30, especially when class rooms are built and designed for 30 pupils each. Should the board desire to do so, we possibly could for the coming year get along without using the Manor school, because as the plans are now formulated it appears that there will be a vacant room in the Pine street school. It should be added that with the additional facilities at the high school, plans are being made for having all pupils grades 7 to 12 in the high school building.

The per pupil cost of education in the high school in the decade from 1937 to 1947 increased 89%. At the same time it must be borne in mind that although the budget for education has more than doubled, the number of pupils enrolled has increased in both the elementary and secondary schools very considerably. In 1937 gross enrollment in the elementary schools was 552 pupils, and in the high school 277 pupils. This is an increase of 25% in enrollment in the elementary and 75% in the high school. A part of the increase in high school enrollment must be attributed to the reorganization of the schools, with the result that the seventh and eighth grades were transferred from the elementary to the secondary school. It should also be noted that the cost of living index has increased more than 100%.

A general survey of the financial situation would reveal that we have not been extravagant in the use of public money for public education. Judging from the supplies and equipment we have in our school, money has been spent very conservatively for those necessities which are paramount in developing a good educational program. The education of youth is in my opinion the best investment that the citizens can make in the preservation of our American way of life. If we fail in this we will inevitably pay the consequences. On a national basis only 1-3 as much is spent on education as on liquor and tobacco and only 1/2 as much as on cosmetics.

the property in the five districts was $4,490,222. In 1947 the assessed valuation of the property in the same area was $5,081,045. In other words the $600,000 increase in the assessed valuation of property in the nine years, from 1938 to 1947, was probably only sufficient to account for new housing. It certainly does not take into account the increased value of property which has been common to this and other localities during the same period. Then, as now, the districts claim that the ratio between the true and the assessed valuation of property varies from 60 to 80% in the five districts. Briefly stating the proposition it is this: We are taxing property on a depression assessed valuation and operating our schools on an inflated cost economy. This accounts for the fact more than anything else that the tax rate in several of the districts will be 30 mills or more next year.

40 'n' 8 "Adopts" Lad Who Lost Right Leg

Upon arrival at David's home, they were greeted by David, his widowed mother and his grandmother, Mrs. L. Wright. David was presented to each member of the 40 'n' 8, given an American flag for use at camp; a "chapeau" was placed upon his head and several pictures taken. He, his sister and several of his chums, along with his mother, were then taken for a long ride on the "locoy". Stops were made and ice cream and soda were enjoyed by all.

The 40 'n' 8 found David a charming, smiling, cheerful lad. Members were told he is a good pupil. He leaves for camp July 3, from the society headquarters in Philadelphia. Commander Hennessey has arranged for automobile transportation from Newtown to Philadelphia, where the crippled children are then taken by bus to camp. The 40 'n' 8 members were sorry to learn that David's father, Sgt. Marvin Elwell, a bombardier pilot, was reported missing in action in the Pacific area and has never been located. David proudly wore the air medal with two clusters, which had been awarded his daddy.

WELL-HEELER HEALER

WELLINGTON, Tex., July 1 (INS) A turbaned gypsy "healer" made a sick man of 78-year-old W. J. Amerson, of Wellington. Amerson told police that the vicious gypsy woman "just walked in on him at his home." He said that while he was trying to get rid of her she relieved him of two purses, one containing $200, and the other $89.

2 Husbands Are Sent To County Prison

John Helhouski, of near Chalfont, was directed by Judge Boyer to pay $19 a week for the support of their small daughter, Carol Ann, Mrs. Caroline Helhouski, Spring Garden street, Philadelphia, the defendant's wife, waived a support order in her behalf because she is working. She charged her husband with drinking and beating her up.

Harry Gill, Second street, Bristol, was directed by President Judge Keller to pay $15 a week for the support of his wife, Catherine, and two daughters. He is $390 in the arrearages, and the case was continued.

Rosario Caro, Jefferson avenue, Bristol, who has been in prison since February 3, was released by Judge Keller on condition that he pay $184 out of a $500 bond, which belongs to his parents. The support order of $18 a week is still standing and the case was continued until September. The defendant showed the court a picture of his wife, perched on a bar, with her legs crossed, and the court roundly scored her for her conduct.

The case of Harold Schram, Pennell, was continued until July 7, on condition that the defendant pay $50 toward a support order which is now in the arrearages. Judge Boyer was assured that the defendant, an ex-G.I., will receive $350 from the government for on-the-job training pay between July 10 and 15.

Arthur Fox, of this place, who has been in the county prison since January 7, was paroled by Judge Keller and placed on probation with Assistant County Detective William L. Stackhouse in charge.

Here's a Home With an Easy, Informal Air that stamps it unmistakably as designed for life in the open country. All on one floor, the dwelling

Here's a one-floor house that strikes a note of easy informality making it particularly well suited for country living.

With a terrace opening out of the living room at one end, and a car port located at the other end, everything needed to make this out-of-town home compactly self-contained is right at hand.

there is ample opportunity for increasing the number if desired. Provision for dining is made in the living room area, with the kitchen conveniently opening into it. The bathroom is in the hallway between the two bedrooms, beside a service unit which is an unusual and specially desirable feature of the house. Heater, laundry equipment, hot water heater and shelves for household linens are all contained in this unit, with a door opening into the bathroom.

Inside, One Wing of the 1-shaped house contains the living room and the dining area, with the two bedrooms side by side in the other wing. The compact kitchen occupies the corner between the two wings.

A Utility Room, Situated between bathroom and one of the bedrooms, conveniently houses heater, laundry equipment and hot water unit.

This Diagram Shows the arrangement of the utility room, which, besides the various mechanical units, provides shelves, drawers, closet.

the fact that the team was disqualified. The girls softball team won the Lower Bucks county championship and stood high among the qualifying teams in hockey.

The Parent-Teacher Association at the Hulmeville school, the room mothers club at the Parkland school and the Friends school, and the Parent-Teacher association of Langhorne, contributed not only generously of their moral support to the schools, but gave educational aids and materials valued at nearly $1,000.

The past year was unusual with respect to the stability and in-service continuity of the faculty. One teacher died in service, another because of illness was absent from school continuously from December 1st to the end of the term; a member of the high school faculty was granted a leave effective January 1st; the boys health instructor resigned February 1st, and the high school mathematics teacher resigned March 1st to take a position in the Philadelphia school system. Substitute teachers were drawn into service for four of the five positions made vacant and in the other, an inexperienced teacher was employed to complete the task.

In the high school 20% of the faculty have had three years or more experience in the system, while the remaining 80% have had only one or two years. In the elementary schools 55% of the staff have had two years or more experience in the system. In other words, the faculty is mostly comprised of people who are new to the community and to the school system. This cannot help but have a telling effect upon the kind of an educational program we all desire to have for the children who are entrusted to our care. It is very probable that the salary schedule recently adopted by the board of school directors, additional building space, smaller classes, and other extenuating factors, will tend to correct this condition.

A plan for the in-service training of teachers was carried to fruition during the year. In the elementary schools, under the direction of Miss Baxter, all of the teachers worked on problems relating to the improvement of education in which they had a manifest interest. On the secondary school level the faculty worked on course of study outlines for their respective fields of instruction.

Several teachers in both the elementary and secondary schools furthered their education during the year by taking work at either Temple University or the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. In some instances this advanced work was done in fields remotely related to

that in which the teacher was engaged. In others it had a very close relationship. Instructors in home economics, social studies and science participated in conferences relating to their respective fields of instruction.

It is gratifying to report that among this year's graduates, all except one planning to attend college, has been accepted for admission to college in September, 1948. In a few instances it was necessary to make a special appeal to institutions of higher learning in order to have pupils admitted whose grades were not sufficiently high to meet the admission standards of the institutions.

In the elementary schools tests revealed that there are enough pupils to justify the services of two teachers of special education. This means that there are between 40 and 50 pupils in the elementary schools whose intelligence potentialities are of such a level that they would profit more by the kind of instruction that would be given in special classes, than by that which is ordinarily included in the regular classes. In the past children with low mental ability were carried along in regular classes making little progress, experiencing failure in all of their school work, becoming psychological problems and before reaching the 10th grade, dropped out of school. These are the people who because of their mental make-up, often become the major problems in society. We are doing the best we can to help children whose mental level is low, to adjust themselves to school. We are not doing as much as needs to be done, either to help them or to save our more intelligent children from the losses which are incurred by having a very heterogeneous mental group together.

The loss of pupils through the granting of work certificates is very heavy in the ninth and tenth grades. There are incidental losses by doctors' certificates to pupils in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Annually the school gives general employment papers to approximately 25 pupils.

During the past year the pupil-teacher ratio in the elementary school was 33.8 pupils per teacher, and in the high school 28.2 pupils per teacher. Needless to say this is a higher pupil-teacher ratio than that provided for in the school laws of the Commonwealth or recommended by the best educators. It is hoped that this condition will be corrected next year with more adequate building space and additional staff members.

We anticipate an enrollment of 705 pupils in grades one to six, next year. To handle this group we are planning to have a corps of 23 teachers. This will give us a pupil-teacher ratio of 30.4 pupils per teacher. In the high school we anticipate an enrollment of 525 pupils and a teaching corps of 20. This will give us a pupil-teacher ratio of 26 to one. However, with inevitable losses during the school

With classes numbering approximately 30 each in the elementary schools, and from 25 to 30 each in the high school, we ought to be able to give more individual attention to those who are in special need of it. During the past year 62% of our classes in the high school had 30 or more pupils. Nine of them had more than 50 pupils each. Unfortunately the large classes were in what are usually called the basic studies: namely English, history, mathematics, science and geography.

In the elementary school, several teachers had from 35 to 45 pupils each. No teacher, regardless of how competent, can teach from 35 to 45 pupils whose mental abilities and maturity vary widely, as effectively as she could teach 30, especially when class rooms are built and designed for 30 pupils each. Should the board desire to do so, we possibly could for the coming year get along without using the Manor school, because as the plans are now formulated it appears that there will be a vacant room in the Pine street school. It should be added that with the additional facilities at the high school, plans are being made for having all pupils grades 7 to 12 in the high school building.

The per pupil cost of education in the high school in the decade from 1937 to 1947 increased 89%. At the same time it must be borne in mind that although the budget for education has more than doubled, the number of pupils enrolled has increased in both the elementary and secondary schools very considerably. In 1937 gross enrollment in the elementary schools was 552 pupils, and in the high school 277 pupils. This is an increase of 25% in enrollment in the elementary and 75% in the high school. A part of the increase in high school enrollment must be attributed to the reorganization of the schools, with the result that the seventh and eighth grades were transferred from the elementary to the secondary school. It should also be noted that the cost of living index has increased more than 100%.

A general survey of the financial situation would reveal that we have not been extravagant in the use of public money for public education. Judging from the supplies and equipment we have in our school, money has been spent very conservatively for those necessities which are paramount in developing a good educational program. The education of youth is in my opinion the best investment that the citizens can make in the preservation of our American way of life. If we fail in this we will inevitably pay the consequences. On a national basis only 1-3 as much is spent on education as on liquor and tobacco and only 1/2 as much as on cosmetics.

the property in the five districts was $4,490,222. In 1947 the assessed valuation of the property in the same area was $5,984,045. In other words the $600,000 increase in the assessed valuation of property in the nine years, from 1938 to 1947, was probably only sufficient to account for new housing. It certainly does not take into account the increased value of property which has been common to this and other localities during the same period. Then, as now, the districts claim that the ratio between the true and the assessed valuation of property varies from 60 to 80% in the five districts. Briefly stating the proposition it is this: We are taxing property on a depression assessed valuation and operating our schools on an inflated cost economy. This accounts for the fact more than anything else that the tax rate in several of the districts will be 30 mills or more next year.

Believe Others May Follow The Lead of Break by Tito

resulting from Tito's proclamation of independence from Moscow would be participation in ERP.
It has long been noted that the Balkan satellites of Russia could not expect to get any of the consumers goods they need from the Soviet area. At the same time their trade agreements with Moscow compel the delivery of specified amounts of goods.

These Balkan products could, under a break with Moscow, again flow to Western Europe.
If, as has been predicted, Bulgaria and Albania join in a Balkan Federation it is anticipated that other more important satellite states might join. Even without Tito's leadership, others of the Soviet community have been reported on the verge of revolt.

Such a development would indicate the success of the Marshall Plan in meeting the advance of Communism. Moreover, it would help to assure the success of the plan economically by bringing in a larger part of Europe's economy.

Two points of skepticism are, however, in the general welcome to the Yugoslav situation. They are:

1. Yugoslavia would remain Communist under Tito, though a somewhat different brand than that Moscow would have.

2. Russia's economy also would benefit from the increased prosperity of the Balkans if existing trade agreements among them remain in effect.

Foreign Policy To Be Major Issue of G. O. P.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 1.—(INS)—Republican determination to make foreign policy a major issue in the Presidential campaign took concrete form today as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey completed a long conference with John Foster Dulles, his chief adviser on international affairs.

Dulles, an American delegate to the United Nations, rode with the Republican Presidential nominee from Pawling yesterday and conferred with the latter until an early hour this morning at the Albany executive mansion.

Significance of the conference was underscored by persistent reports that Dewey, if elected, will appoint Dulles his Secretary of State.

During their conversations last night, Dewey and Dulles discussed in detail the "under box" situation in Berlin and the Soviet censure of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

The Republican Presidential candidate repeatedly has accused the Truman administration of "wobbling" in its foreign relations. He is expected to outline soon, in detail, the means by which he believes the United States can achieve a firmer stand in international affairs without risk of war.

Democratic Albany which has not cast a majority vote for a Republican President in a quarter of a century, gave Dewey a rousing welcome when he returned here yesterday for the first time since his nomination at Philadelphia.

Chairman of Red Cross Gives Hints For Safety

Mrs. Harry K. Ambler, chairman of the Lower Bucks county branch of the southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter, American Red Cross, this week cautioned the thousands of families planning outing and trips over the long 4th of July weekend, "not to let the holiday spirit make you careless."

To strengthen this warning, Mrs. Ambler said that 274 men died by drowning in Pennsylvania alone last year, and that traffic accidents in Philadelphia reached a total of 1,258 during the month of May.

"These figures are indicative of what can happen when the majority of the community is free to converge on the highways, the beaches and pools, seeking relaxation," Mrs. Ambler said. "And they are indicative of so much unnecessary human flesh, broken bones and bereaved families," he added.

The chairman said the death toll can be kept at a minimum over the holiday if the following don'ts are followed: Don't drive at excessive speeds;—don't mix driving with drinking;—don't dive into water of unknown depth; don't go bathing or swimming too soon after eating; don't swim alone or in polluted waters; don't stay in the sun too long and don't extend your strength or skill too far.

One of the first rules of night driving is to remember that, however well lighted the road, and however powerful the headlights, visibility is always lower at night. Decreased visibility naturally demands speed. It is most important for motorists to resist the temptaeven an unseen stone or road depression may throw a speeding automobile from the highway.

The following precautions are recommended by safety specialists: When approaching a curve or hill, speed should be reduced to the point where the motorist can easily stop within the range of his headlights.

Temporary blindness caused by the glare of approaching headlights is a frequent cause of death and injury at night. When confronted by dazzling headlights, the motorist should keep his eyes fixed on the side of the road, away from the glare, and at the same time change his own lights to a lower beam.

Intoxicated drivers are a special night-time hazard. Studies have shown that between 76 and 91 percent of accidents involving drinking drivers, occurred at night. Many night-time street and highway accidents happen in the vicinity of roadhouses and night clubs, and it is necessary here to be on the alert for both motorists and pedestrians.

If possible, a window should be kept open for better circulation of air and for better hearing. A clean windshield and crystal-clear headlight lenses are essential.

No city or town can afford to be without proper street lighting. Every citizen can help reduce accidents by seeing that adequate lighting is provided in his community. And every motorist can make it his individual responsibility to drive intelligently at night.

TRIO OF SHUTOUT VICTORIES LISTED IN YOUTH LEAGUE

Three shutout victories were recorded in the Bristol Youth League last evening in games curtailed because of rain. Hurlers who had the whitewash wins were: "Pete" Rubino, of the Fourth Ward Boys Club; and "Ronnie" Konefal, of Bell's Aces.

Another hurler, "Tommy" Wilson, of the Penn A. C. team, pitched a one-hit game but his opponents scored a run to beat him. The Pennacian twirler did not allow the Hibernians a solitary base blow until the fourth when Ray Gallagher beat out a hit stole second, advanced on an error, and scored the only run of the game on a fielder's choice.

The Penn A. C. team made two hits off "Pete" Rubino, who managed to keep them away from the plate in the five innings played. He fanned nine.

As the result of the win, the Hibernians moved into a triple deadlock with Bristol Terrace and Crofton for first place.

Ferraro fast-balled the Fourth Ward boys Club to its first win of the season as the Warders topped the Newportville Indians, 1-0. Ferraro won his own game in the second when he lambasted a pitch into deep center field for three bags and scored on an overthrow to the infield.

It was Ferraro's last game of the Youth League as he reaches his 18th birthday this week. He allowed the Newporters but three scattered hits and fanned eight batters. His opponent, Nick Schmidt, also hurled fine ball but was ruined by his foe's three-bagger. Six innings were played in this tilt.

"Ronnie" Konefal gave Bristol Township but five hits for Bell's Aces in a game that barely went the necessary limit to be a legal contest. Konefal whiffed seven batters and kept his hits well scattered.

Vito Bascio led the winners with the stick, getting three hits in the same number of times at the plate.

Tony Pfaffenrath had two of the Township's five safe blows.

SCORELESS DUEL IS HELD BY LEGION IX'S

PERKASIE, July 1—Bristol and Perkaskie Junior Legion teams were in a scoreless duel last evening when rain interfered with the contest in the last half of the third inning. It was the fourth time this season that a Bristol-Perkaskie game was called because of rain.

Haberle, Perkaskie twirler, had retired the nine Bristol batters to face him, only one reaching first base. Hibbs got on via an error and then was picked off first.

Dick Harmon was doing the tossing for Bristol and ran into trouble in the second when a walk and an error put runners in scoring position but he retired Landis for the third out.

Perkaskie is leading the Bucks County Junior Legion League with three wins and no losses. Bristol is in second place with four victories and one loss.

A Door-Opening Decision

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The United States Supreme Court has given a notable assist to free speech in politics. It rules that labor unions and business companies, as well, may urge the election or defeat of political candidates or parties in their newspapers or house organs "in the regular course of publication."

Money from more different sources than for many years will now be used in political campaigns. It need not all go through regular political committees. This new source of revenue is outside the Hatch Act, which limits political expenditures. Money thus spent need not, apparently, be reported under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

The case before the Supreme Court was United States vs. Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. Mr. Murray did everything he could think of to violate Section 313 of the Taft-Hartley law, which forbids labor unions and corporations from making contributions or expenditures in elections to federal office. He did so in order to test his claim that Section 313 was unconstitutional. That was his right. Mr. Murray now goes free. But not because the law is unconstitutional. Refusing to consider that question, the court simply held that Mr. Murray violated no law because Congress cannot be supposed to have forbidden what he did—the use of the C. I. O. News to urge the election of a candidate for Congress.

I previously expressed the view that Congress could not forbid the expression of political opinion in any publication sent to its regular list of members or subscribers. When the publication goes outside this list, as Mr. Murray caused to be done in his case, by distributing one thousand extra copies free to the general public, I felt that the extra distribution was something Congress could deal with in the interest of the purity of elections.

The Supreme Court, however, gave its okay to the one thousand extra copies, although using the words "in the regular course of publication." If one thousand, why not one hundred thousand, or a million copies? Except for this one point, the Supreme Court's opinion is sound and right.

A new door has been opened which many had thought was shut. For years, corporations and banks have considered that the law made them political enemies. Business companies have been afraid to urge the election, or defeat, of candidates in their house organs, or similar publications. They are now as free to do so as labor unions. The gag has been removed for everybody. Business, as well as labor unions, may now speak up.

The court said: "... to prohibit the publication by corporations and unions in the regular course of conducting their affairs, of periodicals advising their members, stockholders or customers of danger or advantage to their interests from the adoption of measures or the election to office of men espousing such measures, the gravest doubt would arise in our minds as to the constitutionality."

The amateur in politics, as well as the professional, is now free to win friends and influence people.

If business men, as well as labor leaders, will now become articulate, we can look forward to a more balanced discussion of public affairs. The decision may help to defeat old "General Apathy."

Our congratulations to Mr. Murray for winning this notable decision in favor of free speech for everybody—business as well as labor unions. The question is whether those who believe in free enterprise will now be as vocal and energetic as those leaders of labor who promote socialism or collectivism.

'RECOVERY TRAIN'

MEXICO CITY, July 1 — (INS)—Government departments are preparing their exhibits for the "Economic Recovery Train," which will bring the scientific, industrial and agricultural advances of Mexico to the country during the next two years. The train will carry goods and exhibits of some 200 Mexican organizations, factories, government departments, collective farms and other companies.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

PACK a large basket with filling, wholesome food and treat your family to a gay Sunday dinner under the blue skies. For that free-from-care outing, the A & P Service for Home-Makers makes the following pack-up-and-go suggestions.

The picnic dinner features sandwiches that are filling, peanut butter and chopped, crisp bacon; cold baked beans with chopped pickles; hard-cooked eggs; sliced cold meat with onion rings and mustard; sardine and egg; liverwurst and tomato, among others. Include plenty of olives, pickles, celery, fresh fruit, and a thermos jug of milk or coffee.

For a fix-it-on-the-spot repast, take along materials for skillet spaghetti. Shred four slices of bacon into a skillet and brown lightly with three or four chopped onions. Add a No. 2 can of tomatoes and a nine-ounce package of spaghetti. Salt and pepper to taste, cover and simmer slowly until tender, about half an hour. A tightly-covered pan should be carried along to reheat the buttered rolls. Top off the meal with fruit, cookies and camp-style coffee. This dinner will serve four.

No dishes are allowed at a kabob dinner, but do pack plenty of napkins. For picnic kabobs thread alternately on skewers one-inch cubes of steak, pieces of bacon and small onions. Roast over a bed of hot coals, season to taste and serve with warm, buttered rolls and a swish of mustard. For crisp eating, pack slices of carrots and lettuce in a fruit jar containing ice.

Don't forget those minor items that mean so much to the success of a picnic dinner, such as salt, matches, drinking cups, paper plates, coffee pot, oiled paper, napkins, etc.

AMMONIA AIDS IN EASY CLEANING OF THAT GREASY OVEN

By Flora-May Sagard

(Home Economics Representative)

There is an easy way to keep your oven clean. Difficulty in removing the hot fat that splatters from a roast, the greasy film which forms on the walls and racks, and the baked-on juices that have run out of pies usually makes the task a long and unpleasant one.

You can remove all the grease and baked-on juice with little effort. Let your oven cool thoroughly before starting to clean it. Put a shallow, open dish containing one tablespoon of household ammonia and a cup of soapy water in the oven and keep the door closed. If you try this after the evening meal, you can leave the ammonia solution in the oven all night. The next morning the grease will rub off the inside of the oven easily.

Juices and syrups that cannot be wiped up before hardening, are easier to remove after they become charred. At present there are several commercial solutions on the market for the purpose of cleaning bits of stuck-on food from the oven.

To keep your oven in good condition constantly, let it cool with the door open. Heat accumulating in the oven produces steam. This moisture runs into the metal joints and corners and forms on racks causing rust wherever the metal is not protected. Once rust is started it becomes hard to control. You can remove starting rust by cleaning it off with fine sandpaper, steel wool, or a wire brush. Then cover the spots with oil. Each time you clean the oven, examine these spots and repeat the sanding and oiling if it is necessary.

If you want to keep it a secret don't put it in the Want Ads.

Inside Your Congress

The United States Supreme Court has given a notable assist to free speech in politics. It rules that labor unions and business companies, as well, may urge the election or defeat of political candidates or parties in their newspapers or house organs "in the regular course of publication."

Money from more different sources than for many years will now be used in political campaigns. It need not all go through regular political committees. This new source of revenue is outside the Hatch Act, which limits political expenditures. Money thus spent need not, apparently, be reported under the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

The case before the Supreme Court was United States vs. Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. Mr. Murray did everything he could think of to violate Section 313 of the Taft-Hartley law, which forbids labor unions and corporations from making contributions or expenditures in elections to federal office. He did so in order to test his claim that Section 313 was unconstitutional. That was his right. Mr. Murray now goes free. But not because the law is unconstitutional. Refusing to consider that question, the court simply held that Mr. Murray violated no law because Congress cannot be supposed to have forbidden what he did—the use of the C. I. O. News to urge the election of a candidate for Congress.

I previously expressed the view that Congress could not forbid the expression of political opinion in any publication sent to its regular list of members or subscribers. Flocks Set All-Time Record In '47; Produce Over 3 Million Eggs

STANDARD ADVANCED

HARRISBURG, July 1 — When Pennsylvania farm flocks set an all-time record in producing more than three billion eggs last year, they advanced the national standing of the Keystone State in the poultry industry, according to facts compiled recently by the State Department of Agriculture from Federal-State reports.

Production of 2,946,000,000 eggs in 1947 was sufficient to advance Pennsylvania from fourth to third place in the United States in total output, the records reveal. At the same time the State advanced from third to second in the value of eggs produced. The State retained its fourth place in the number of chickens inventoried on farms on January 1, and still holds its place as second in value of chickens on farms.

Farm cash income from sale of chickens in 1947 amounted to $41,955,000 and income from eggs amounted to $124,066,000. The total from both sources was approximately $166,000,000 compared with $150,000,000 in 1946, and is a new record.

Ten counties in Pennsylvania are among the 100 highest chicken counties in the United States, nine are in this select group in chickens raised on farms and 11 are listed among the first 100 counties in egg production.

The Keystone State raises more turkeys than any other east of the Mississippi river, ranking sixth in the Nation in both number and value. Three counties are among the first 100 counties in the United States—Lancaster, York and Berks. The state ranks 12th in value of broiler chickens produced, $6,717,600 in 1947.

COFFEE A LA PLOT

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 1—(INS)—That coffee can be dangerous stuff. Three Fort Worth youths found that out recently, while having a quiet little chat over a cup of coffee. A man in the next booth overheard their conversation. The three ended up in the city jail. The chat—plans for a burglary.

KNOW YOUR STATE

(Prepared for the Courier by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce)

Pennsylvania Stone Supplies Nation's Buildings and Highways

The latest information supplied by the United States Bureau of Mines, show that Pennsylvania is still maintaining first place in our nation in the production of stone and stone products.

The state's leadership in coal, steel and cement is so well known that little attention has been paid to the highly important output of stone from quarries of the Keystone State.

In a year when the construction of new highways and houses has become so essential, Pennsylvania's output of 18,883,740 net tons of stone in 1946—an increase of 1,100,000 tons over the preceding year—is an important addition to the national wealth. This output exceeded that of any other state by approximately 2,000,000 tons. The value of Pennsylvania's stone products was $25,572,596 and was nearly $7,000,000 greater than that of the second most important stone producing state, Ohio, the state planning board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce points out.

This total does not include stone quarried and used for making either lime or cement. Together with Pennsylvania's preeminence in the Portland cement industry, a leadership maintained over a period of many years, the variety and tonnage of our stone production affords one more evidence of Pennsylvania's vital place in our nation as the source of some of its most essential raw materials.

PLAYER BREAKS FINGER

"Lenny" Jones, one of the star hurlers of the Bristol Suburban League, suffered a broken finger in the Voltz-Texaco - St. Ann's game Tuesday evening on the Memorial Park field. Jones was batting when struck by a pitched ball thrown by Tony Cauti, St. Ann's moundman.

The ball struck the end of Jones' ring finger of his left hand, knocking off the nail. The Voltz-Texaco twirler was treated at the scene by a physician. X-ray pictures taken yesterday revealed that the finger was broken.

Production of 2,946,000,000 eggs in 1947 was sufficient to advance Pennsylvania from fourth to third place in the United States in total output, the records reveal. At the same time the State advanced from third to second in the value of eggs produced. The State retained its fourth place in the number of chickens inventoried on farms on January 1, and still holds its place as second in value of chickens on farms.

Farm cash income from sale of chickens in 1947 amounted to $41,995,000 and income from eggs amounted to $124,066,000. The total from both sources was approximately $166,000,000 compared with $150,000,000 in 1946, and is a new record.

Ten counties in Pennsylvania are among the 100 highest chicken counties in the United States, nine are in this select group in chickens raised on farms and 11 are listed among the first 100 counties in egg production.

The Keystone State raises more turkeys than any other east of the Mississippi river, ranking sixth in the Nation in both number and value. Three counties are among the first 100 counties in the United States—Lancaster, York and Berks. The state ranks 12th in value of broiler chickens produced, $6,717,000 in 1947.

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 1—(INS)—That coffee can be dangerous stuff. Three Fort Worth youths found that out recently, while having a quiet little chat over a cup of coffee. A man in the next booth overheard their conversation. The three ended up in the city jail. The chat—plans for a burglary.

The latest information supplied by the United States Bureau of Mines, show that Pennsylvania is still maintaining first place in our nation in the production of stone and stone products.

The state's leadership in coal, steel and cement is so well known that little attention has been paid to the highly important output of stone from quarries of the Keystone State.

In a year when the construction of new highways and houses has become so essential, Pennsylvania's output of 18,883,740 net tons of stone in 1946—an increase of 1,000,000 tons over the preceding year—is an important addition to the national wealth. This output exceeded that of any other state by approximately 2,000,000 tons. The value of Pennsylvania's stone products was $25,872,596, and was nearly $7,000,000 greater than that of the second most important stone producing state, Ohio, the state planning board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce points out.

This total does not include stone quarried and used for making either lime or cement. Together with Pennsylvania's preeminence in the Portland cement industry, a leadership maintained over a period of many years, the variety and tonnage of our stone production affords one more evidence of Pennsylvania's vital place in our nation as the source of some of its most essential raw materials.

The ball struck the end of Jones' ring finger of his left hand, knocking off the nail. The Voltz-Texaco twirler was treated at the scene by a physician. X-ray pictures taken yesterday revealed that the finger was broken.

Add Gay Touches To Tasty Canapes

Green pepper and pimiento add gay touches to savory canapes in this recipe. It will leave your family and guests clamoring for more. The canape mixture may be mixed in advance, but don't heat it until you're ready to serve it. Let the guests wait for the canapes; don't let the canapes wait for the guests.

3 slices, two day-old white bread 4 tablespoons butter 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion 3 tablespoons finely chopped green peppers 6 tablespoons chopped fresh mushrooms 1/4 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento 1 teaspoon anchovy paste Trim crusts from bread and cut in half, making two large oblongs from each slice. Melt two tablespoons butter in a large frying pan. Add the bread and fry slowly, over low heat, until golden

FIRST CELEBRATION WAS ON 8TH OF JULY

Independence Holiday Was Four Days After Congress Adopted the Document

BELLS PLAYED A PART

The first celebration of the Declaration of Independence was not held on July 4. It was held on July 8, 1776—four days after Congress officially adopted the historic document.

According to Mabel Johnson, research editor of the World Book Encyclopedia, patriots who gathered in Philadelphia's Independence Square are credited with originating what has since been an annual celebration ever since. The great crowd heard John Nixon, prominent Philadelphia, read the entire Declaration. He stood on a towering platform erected seven years earlier by the American Philosophical Society for the observation of a rare phenomenon involving the planet Venus.

Bells pealed throughout the day. John Adams' letters mention chimes, possibly those of Christ Church. As the rector of the church was a well-known Royalist, the chimes probably were rung "without benefit of clergy."

Not until July 2 of the following year did it occur to the Philadelphians that the celebration should be repeated on July 4.

A letter written by John Adams to his daughter tells the story of the next July 4, in 1777. Again bells pealed throughout the day. Warships anchored in the river were gaily decorated. Bonfires and fireworks lit the sky in the evening. Candles burned in the windows of nearly every home.

Congress adjourned for the day. The government dignitaries enjoyed a special dinner in a city tavern, with music by a Heesian band captured at Trenton. During the after-dinner toasts, soldiers outside the tavern fired continuous volleys.

According to the World Book editor, this annual celebration of the Fourth of July spread slowly throughout the country. But, even today July 4 is not a national holiday by United States law.

NEW MEXICO WINS "POLE"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (INS) — New Mexico has captured the coveted "pole position" in the grand parade of 1948 of The American Legion to be held in Miami, Fla. October 19. The lead position in the big procession went to New Mexico by virtue of its highest 1948 membership percentage as compared with its previous four-year average enrollment. Vermont won second place. South Dakota placed third. Montana was fourth, and North Dakota placed fifth.

'SEE FOR YOURSELF'

—A column of discriminating comment, published from time to time by The Boyd System, Bristol's unique charge account service.

By JEAN SCHNEIDER

● BE A GLAMOUR GIRL at a price tailored to fit your budget. Revlon is making a most attractive offer—a 65c lipstick and one 60c bottle of nail polish (in all popular shades)—both for 75c. This is an offer you can't afford to by-pass. Exclusively at Pal-Mar Cut Rate, Mill Street.

● YOU CAN'T BE TOO GOOD to that exciting new arrival, boy or girl. One of the nicest gifts of all is a sterling silver comb and brush set, attractively packaged. You will be gratefully remembered for having chosen a gift that lasts. (You'll particularly appreciate the military style brushes for boys). $7.95 a set, at J. S. Lynn's Jewelry Store, Mill Street.

● HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW about the craftsmanship required to re-sole your shoes? It was most interesting to learn that a good re-sole job requires removal of the old stitches and re-use of the original stitch-holes each time your shoes are re-soled. Otherwise the soles may pull away from the uppers. For longer wear and better appearance, take your shoes to Grand Shoe Service, 813 Pond Street. They've been repairing shoes at this address for forty years.

● "SOME LIKE IT HOT," but none of us cares about summer sleeping under a winter-weight blanket! The well-known Cannon name may be found on "just right" summer cotton blankets in luscious pastel shades, sold at Richman's. Size: an ample 72" x 90". Price $4.99.

● REMEMBER THE POT-BELLIED STOVE? It's back again, and you'll be amused and pleased with this cast-iron miniature, designed to function as an ash tray. The little round lid covers the ash receptacle. A humorous addition to your porch, recreation room or outdoor furniture grouping. An original gift, too. Priced at $1.69. United Cut Rate Drug Store, Mill Street.
